FACTS ABOUT WATER FOR BRISBANE

During the War period material of all kinds, including pipe for water systems, was very hard to get. The two existing water companies in Brisbane were no exception and it was necessary for them to resort to using used pipe, old boiler tubes and such to repair and extend their water systems to meet the needs of expanding Brisbane.

After the war, in 1945, with insurance rates going up, the insurance companies were called upon to see if their rates could be held at a reasonable figure. It was at this time that the attention of the citizens of Brisbane was called to the insurance rate condition and they soon learned that it would be necessary to have a water system, approved by the fire underwriters, having sufficient fire hydrants and

WOMEN'S CORNER

By BRIS - BETTE

ON a Sunday afternoon the family decided to amble down to Pescadero and thereabouts for a look-see into the Butano Forest area.

It was magnificent as the Redwoods always are, that is, what we could see of it. Some enterprising real estate agency has put a fence across the road not too far in to the big trees and it's "Buy a Lot" to see the rest or keep out.

Any break along the dense growth by the side of the road was caused by people dumping garbage. Some folks will go a long way to keep from fouling their own nests having little care for the destruction they create. Anything any place is a good place to dump so long as they avoid paying the scavenger company its few pennies a month. To their neighbors they appear to be paragons of cleanliness and neatness, never hesitating to excoriate those who clutter their own backyards keeping their mess at home.

Yes, Butano should be put into a state or county park as soon as it's possible. There is no better way to pad a shredded nerve cell like standing under a huge Redwood tree and absorbing its peace and tranquility that has withstood for a thousand years, its only enemy — Man.

IT is with much pride Brisbane views its shelves of Gold Cups and Merit Awards that have been coming in so fast and pleasantly.

These trophies are not come by with ease. EVERY ONE has been worked upon with thought and care and heartache and joy, to bring about the recognition a united community well deserves.

Many of us have realized that Brisbane is one of the best places to have a family and raise some pretty nice kids and will go to any trouble to keep it so.

An individual in Brisbane has the chance to express himself in any creative idea that will benefit the community as a whole. Each is taken for the merits he has chosen to put forth in beneficial activity and no matter how small, every effort makes in the long run, a composite unit.

Perhaps it's merely a one dollar donation, or a cake, or an hour's instruction in some of life's tasks, or transporting the Drum and Bugle Corps to the parade grounds or the Baseball team to an outlying field, or serving hot dinners to the men working on the roof of a new church -- any effort toward community welfare is deserving of a Gold Cup for the fine place to live and breathe that such endeavor creates.

Well, not to change the subject, but here are a few household hints and recipes:

If you have a cork that is too large for the bottle, put it in a pan of boiling water for a few minutes and it will shrink. On cooling it will seal the bottle airtight as the cork expands when cold.

Pipe cleaners kept handy prove useful for many little cleaning jobs around the kitchen; Hard to reach parts of the stove, cleaning vents of the pressure cooker, at the wee parts of the electric mixer, etc.

Use hand sprayer, like one used for window cleaning fluids, to spray furniture polish. Leave a few minutes then wipe with a soft cloth — Presto! slick job done.

After cutting onions, rub fingers with damp salt to remove odor. Hae you noticed how many young ladies are chipping their front teeth opening bobby pins?

mains to meet their specifications, before lower insurance rates would be in order.

The present water companies were then called upon to see if something could be worked out. One company, the Visitation City Water Company, owned and operated by Margaret C. and Theodore C. Linde, stated that they did not have sufficient funds to increase their system. Mr. Linde then submitted two proposals to the Brisbane Fire Department and the accepted one was to be used as a means of obtaining a loan from a bank to increase their system.

These proposals were:

1. "Sign a contract to pay the Visitation City Water Company $1200.00 per year for 20 years, plus the cost of installing all of the necessary Fire Hydrants, which would be about $175.00 each. At the end of 20 years the hydrants would become the property of the Visitation City Water Company, at which time the rent on same could be increased."

2. Proposed No. 2 would be for the Fire district to raise $20,000 cash (any way it could) plus the cost of installation, giving this money to the Visitation City Water Company to install that worth of a new water system. This to remain the property of the Visitation City Water Co.

In return the Fire District of drant rental (14 for 20 years), at the rates dictated by the Water Company.

The money would have had to be borrowed and interest paid on the same. All to come from taxpayers.

If one of these proposals had been agreed to it would have meant that a similar one would have to be made with the other existing system. The Brisbane Water Company, making the total cost double that stipulated above.

Also, neither one of these proposals would have met the specifications of the Fire Commissioners for turning down contracts of this kind, which would mean large cost to the tax payers. They decided the next best thing would be to ask the people of Brisbane to form a Water District.

The present Fire Commissioners and the Brisbane Chamber of Commerce formed a Committee as follows:

Bill Rook	V. Gillman
Frank Walsh	Lester Bybee
Jack Grabovsky	Al Pistohl
John Kerrigan	Lou Terry
Herb Tann	Al Adams
Seven Rewak	Dick Schroeder
Art Kennedy	Ray Brown
Preston Barnes	Dae Reed

Ted Dagler

And, after considerable work a Water District was formed and Water Directors elected.

These directors have compiled all information possible and, after making a thorough study of everything available, they have come to the conclusion that, if Brisbane is to have a sufficient water system to meet the needs of the entire Community and comply with all of the specifications of the Fire Underwriters, an almost completely new system will be needed.

Cost

An estimate, based on present of materials needed and construction of a new system, including the cost of Engineering and Attorney Fees, adequate fire hydrants and storage facilities, shows the total needed to be $175,000.00.

In order to obtain this new system, a proposition is being placed on the ballot asking for the approval of a $175,000.00 Bond Issue, a General Obligation of the Brisbane County Water District, to be retired over a period of 40 years, said Bonds to bear interest at the rate not to exceed 4% per annum.

If such is approved, the cost to the home owners in the District will average approximately $8.64 each per month. This cost is based on present tax rates and present water costs.

The Board of Fire Underwriters have advised the Directors that, under the proposed new water system, the insurance rates would be reduced at least 10% and, in some instances, considerably more.

This saving in insurance costs and the fact that we will have plenty of water at all times for all purposes, including Fire Protection, should be appealing to everyone in the Brisbane Water District.

The Fact remains that something has to be done and your Board of Directors of the Brisbane Water District are 100% agreed and have come to the conclusion the proposed new system is the best from all angles.

So interesting were the two full reel pictures showing Cubs in the den and at the circus that the leaders are endeavoring to obtain them from Scout headquarters for their next meeting, so that more cubs and parents may view them.

Brisbane American Legion sponsors the Cubs and Commander Henry Schultz once again furnished and ran his projector. Another Legion member who is very active in the Cubs is A. P. McNair of San Bruno

If you see Milt Jensen approaching, cubs start sprucing up because during the month of September all scouting organizations are subject to inspection of uniforms and appearance. Jensen has been appointed as inspector.

Alfred Poeschel is now secretary of Pack 34 and replaced Bud Soward, former secretary.

All boys 8-11 years of age, are cordially invited to join. Boys 11 years or over are welcome in the scouts. This is the first time in the history of the Boy Scouts of America that a boy less than nine could join the cubs and a boy less than 12 could join the Scouts.

THE GARDENING GUIDE

By C. D. Pod

Hoe and I are really waiting for these hot September days to be over with before settling down to redden' the garden up for the winter. Can't do much heavy pruning except to keep faded blossoms and dead leaves picked and raked up. These I put in a hole I've dug at the back fence, along with grass cuttings and dandelion leaves. After each dumping I sprinkle a shovel of dirt over it and leave it to nature to make my humus for next year's plant feeding.

Hoe leaned over my shoulder and suggested we work some plant food into tired beds now—the soil is pretty worn from summer bloom and production. Working an "old" hole of humus into the ground now, helps to drain of winter rains and does protect tender roots from frost.

In planting this month it's better to set out little plants or seedlings rather than to sow the seed directly into the ground. If seedling, wet the soil to at least two feet to be sure the moisture will be held in the bed. Put a gunny sack, straw mulch or newspaper over the seeds until plants have really started. Take care they do not sunburn, yet do not drown them out either. Carrots should have been sown last month but still will do. Turnips, lettuce, radishes, parsnips and chard along with parsley will do very well.

Why more garden advocates do not use the lovely climbing geraniums is odd—they fit in pots or hanging baskets, or climb along a wall or fence, and if cared for, fed and pruned really put on a show for their board and room. September is not a good month for pruning geraniums or fuschias or the tender plants. However, later on they should be cut back to the last new leaves—this keeps them from getting straggly and ugly.

Getting all the old leaves and stalks burned is a good idea. Corn stalks, iris stalks, tiger lily stalks and pihiy etemmed plants and deris make a wonderful housing project for all the destructive insects in the garden to winter thru. Don't throw them over the fence somewhere -- they breed and then trot right back into your yard and the neighbor's. Burn them up.

Spraying for aphids and scale should be repeated this month. Black aphids at this time are bad.

Earwigs too, are just getting out again after hibernating while they changed their shells. They are like shellfish in that respect. Get some good earwig bait now and hide it out under orange peels or upturned little flower pots propped on one edge.

One of the easiest ways to keep earwigs down is to get a few big hoptoads and coax them to raise a family. They will eat their weight in earwigs during the night -- both being nocturnal.

Lawns can be sown now and all those brown bare spots reseeded, the whole being given a little food and fertilizer.

Group plantings of bulbs should be considered now. Tulips, daffodils, etc., do not have to be planted in a large mass to be effective. However, they do show better if planted in groups of three or four with a ground cover of Virginia stock, baby-blue-eyes, violas or pansies. Even planted as a foreground with Dusty Miller, white stock or snapdragons at their back with a dainty carpet of any spring flower over their feet is a long lasting bouquet to enjoy.

FIRE DEPT. NEWS

Mr. L. Terry reported a busy time for the Brisbane Fire Dept. last month. There were: 17 Alarms, 8 Ambulance, 2 False, 7 fires.

A previous partially burned house at 324 Kings Road, went up in roaring flames one afternoon but the prompt response of the Fire Department and the able work of 14 firemen along with outstanding help of teen-agers Rick Wakeley, Don Johnson, and Bob Fogleman, and Police Officer Roy Edwards, prevented the fire from spreading into brush and trees or damaging adjoining properties.

A letter from the Dodd Warehouse manager, Mr. Savage, was received by the Fire Dept. highly praising them for their prompt action and efficiency in saving the trailer and cargo intact when the cab of one of the company trucks caught fire near Brisbane entrance.

An oil fire at the Brisbane Rock Co. was extinguished in 15 minutes by using Foamite, with which the Firetruck is equipped.

Before the truck returned to the Firehouse a second alarm calling out all the Fire Equipment sent it flying to a residence on the 200 block on Humboldt road where the prompt appearance of the Fire Dept. reduced the damage to a minimum.

For the benefit of those who do not know, there is a man on call at the firehouse every day except Sunday from 7:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. During the night there are 2 men stationed in the Firehouse all night every night.

The telephone No. is: JUniper 7-0189. Write it down somewhere handy or over the phone itself.

Our Fire Dept. has certainly advanced and improved with every new firefighting idea and in its schooling for perfect co-ordination under fire battling pressure.

Mr. Terry again states that no open fires are permitted and all incinerator fires must be out by 1

GOOFY GOSSIP

When I was a boy in school, our teacher was an authority on Parliamentary Law. He organized a debating class and one of the questions we debated was: "Which Is the Most Destructive, Fire or Water?" After the debate, which ended in a tie, the teacher remarked:

"You might just as well have debated 'Which Is The Most Useful To Man, his Heart or His Brain?'. He cannot live without either."

We have plenty of fire in Brisbane, but not nearly enough water. The two systems are not adequate, and are poorly kept up. Vote Yes, for the Water Bonds on September 13.

Do you know that there are parts of this town that cannot get water in the evening to flush toilets or wash their dishes?

.waerifoUsefuThccg xv

Do you know that if there was a fire in the business district there wouldn't be enough water to do anything about it; that if the Fire Department used their pumps it could drain every hot-water tank on Monterey street, Klamath street, and on any other street that carries 1 1/2 to 2 inch water mains and that you would stand the loss, as the water company under no circumstances is obligated to furnish the Fire Dept. water and could cut them off at any time.

Property owners and tax payers residence's of Brisbane, treat yourselves to a real water system, one that will take care of the growth and future needs of Brisbane. A real WATER system is a must for this town, if it is to continue to grow and prosper. A nice place to live; good climate; good schools; good place to raise a family.

Let's put this bond issue over by going to the poles Tuesday and vote Yes for a bigger and better Brisbane and water system that is adequate

BRISBANE HOUSEWIFE TAKES $3000 TOPS!

Mrs. D. C. Schroeder, an attractive 35 year old housewife, is $3000 richer this week.

The lucky lady was named top prize winner in The Examiner's $10,000 "Who Am I?" Contest as a result of her correct solutions to all of the Contest's seventy mystery photos and her expert completion of the tie-breaking sentence "I read the San Francisco Examiner because. . ."

Mrs. Dietrich C. Schroeder, of Brisbane, was vacationing on a river island near Fairfield with husband Dietrich, a Brisbane hardware merchant, at the time contest judges selected hers as the winning entry.

Contacted by telephone, Mrs. Schroeder was nearly mute with excitement and disbelief on hearing that she had won $3,000.

"I can't believe it," she said. "But if you're not fooling me I'm probably the happiest woman in the world."

Mrs. Schroeder then agreed to make a special pilgrimage to The Examiner to claim her prize in person.

At 10 o'clock the next morning Mrs. Schroeder appeared at the office of The Examiner's "Who Am I?" Editor, appropriately radiant and admittedly "a little shaky."

Said she, as a photographer's bulb flashed over her best $3,000 smile: "I've scarcely been able to move under my own power since I heard the news. It's too wonderful. This just can't be happening to me!"

THE WINNING ESSAY

Here is the essay that helped win for Mrs. D. Schroeder, Brisbane housewife, the $3,000 top prize in The Examiner's $10,000 "Who Am I?" Contest:

I read The San Francisco Examiner because:

Like breakfast—it starts the day off right;

Like good books—it opens new horizons

Like television—it brings entertainment into the home;

Like a four-alarm fire—it keeps one AWAKE.

TRAFFIC TIE-UP BY TRUCK FIRE

Traffic was tied up for about a half hour on Bayshore highway at Brisbane, Wednesday afternoon, August 30 when the engine of a truck caught fire and officers feared the gasoline tank would explode.

California Highway Patrolman Art Palacios and the truck driver, Russell A. Johnson, 40, of San Francisco, noticed the smoke at the same time.

Johnson tried to extinguish the fire with a hand fire extinguisher, but the engine burst into flames.

Palacios stopped both north and southbound traffic while the Brisbane Fire Dept. put out the fire. The truck, the property of Dodd Warehouse Co. of San Francisco was listed a total loss, but the trailer was saved.

BRISBANE MAN HAS COLLECTED A VERITABLE ARSENAL OF RARE ANTIQUATED FIREARMS

Entering the basement room in the home at 134 Monterey St., Brisbane, one catches his breath in amazement at the display of military arms. This is the result of a 24-year hobby of L. D. Blair, former soldier (1911-24), and numbers over 40 pieces.

Prized possession is a Hall breach loading infantry rifle, 54 caliber, built at Harper's Ferry Arsenal, Va., between 1819-25 and unique because it is the first breach loader to be used by the U. S. regulars.

Used in the Mexican War of 1846 is a U. S. Army Springfield musket, and date 1852 is a rifle which saw service during the Civil War. Oldest gun is a matchlock carbine of Japanese origin, between 150 and 200 years old. It was once owned by a member of the Samurai class. This ornate weapon has a stock of cherrywood, inlaid with brass ornamentation.

A box of musket caps, manufactured in London and sold to the Confederates during Civil War days, is another interesting item. It was part of the cargo of a blockade runner whose ship was captured by the Union Navy off Charleston. Other Civil War specimens include two Federal caps, a bullet mold, powder horns belt equipment, bayonets, a Federal and a Confederate saber.

Unearthed in an old Indian grave in Modoc County is a French pin-fire military revolver, now hanging on Blair's wall. A bugle which saw service at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, Verdun, in the Argonne, at Meuse, Coblenz and Alsbach in World War I, also is among the collection.

In talking to this hobbyist one finds that he is an expert on military arms of the past and that his knowledge of U. S. history is more than ordinary.

As a child, Blair recalls that his family possessed many military arms, some dating back to pre-Revolutionary days. This, together with his military service, he said, fostered his hobby.

Says Blair, "I believe it is my patriotic duty to preserve the military arms that were used to establish this republic and to maintain it."

His armory serves a double duty, for it is also the headquarters of Blair's Rangers, a group of Brisbane boys organized by Blair.

He gives them army drilling and takes them on overnight maneuvers. The troop members also know the history of all the guns in his collection.

BRISBANE ACCLAIMED FOR FAIR HONORS

A trophy has been presented to the community for its outstanding participation in the San Mateo County Fiesta. Credit goes to the community as a whole for the interest all of us have taken in making Brisbane one of the best places in the County to raise children and give them a chance to participate in community growth.

Especially a vote of gratitude should go to the men and women who have worked so hard that we may gain the recognition that we have. So, thanks to: Dick Hosking, George Brady, Ray Brown and the boys and girls of the Drum and Bugle Corps, to Ted Dagler for worryin' about everything, to Doris Hite for being so lovely and gracious, to the V. F. W. for parading, and to the speakers Dave Reed, Ray Brown and Joe Boyd, who helped present the Beauty Contest in the Brisbane Theatre.

The trophy will be displayed first at Dagler's Market, then make the rounds of all the organizations and business houses in Brisbane so that all members of the community will get a chance to see and admire it.

FAMILY LUCKY

Neighbors of the Fred Landers of Humboldt Road, Gunn cut off, joined the family in thankfulness that none of them was seriously injured or killed when their car rolled over 3 times after slipping on the turn onto Kings Road. Mrs. Louise Landers and baby Yvonne were thrown out of car, second roll over. The father, Fred Landers crawled out of upsidedown car and dragged his little son Ricky after him.

We noticed Brisbane Police and tow car did a good job of getting the car right side up again and backed into family driveway.
